Abstract: There has been considerable confusion in the field regarding the poster abstract submission format for the 18th GCC. In order to address this lack of information we have prepared an abstract submission form for the meeting in word format. In order to submit abstracts to the meeting, fill in the fields in the form, save the abstract and submit it to abstract@gcc18.com. The fields for abstract title, authors and affiliations have been limited to 200 signs, and the one for the abstract text to 2000 signs.

It has come to our attention that for some combinations between Word and Endnote on mac computers, there may be a problem with this type of form, resulting in that you are informed that there is a COM exception. We have discovered that this is due to a bug in the Cite while you write feature in Endnote. If you run into this problem you can temporarily disable the Cite While You Write feature by closing Word, remove the Cite while you write plugin from the Word startup folder (as detailed by FDC4K in this discussion - http://answers.microsoft.com/en-us/mac/forum/macoffice2011-macword/word-crashes-with-a-com-exception-has-occurred/f000ebbe-a342-4678-bfd5-ba3992d9e556) and then again open the Abstract format form. You can then regain the Cite While Your Write in Endnote by opening Endnote, select the Customizer under the EndNote6 just right of the Apple.

If you have any questions, regarding Abstract submissions, you can contact me on mats.bemark@immuno.gu.se and I will try to help you out.

To conclude, it is now possible to submit abstracts to the GCC 18 meeting and we hope that you do not forget to do it before June 9th.
